

PRAGUE SUMMER UNIVERSITY

“CENTRAL EUROPE BETWEEN EU AND NATO”

REPORT OF THE SESSION

From 23 to 29 September 2019, the Summer University of the Czech Republic took place in Prague for the third time. It was organised in collaboration with CEVRO Institute, which is located very conveniently, close to the old town and all the interesting places of Prague.

The foreign students were accommodated in a hostel very close to CEVRO Institute and to the city centre of Prague. Although this hostel has a very good reputation, with one of the best roof views of Prague, the rooms of a few students were not at the expected level due to bedbugs. Nevertheless, the management of the hostel and the organisers of the programme were very responsive and proposed solutions to this problem.

The academic programme intended to develop a lot of topics regarding some aspects of Central Europe and its place in both the European Union and NATO.

The academic sessions contained approximately 30 hours of lectures, discussions and debates. They were conducted in English by international experts from the Czech Republic and abroad.

The 15 candidates who took part in the programme were selected either by CIFE or by the partner. They represented 8 different nationalities including the Czech nationality.

The group enjoyed a rich programme of additional activities that allowed them to appreciate the culture and gastronomy of the country. A guided walking tour in Prague made it easier for everyone to find their way around in the city from the very first evening. During a full day excursion, a personal guide made the students discover both Karlstejn Castle, a very famous place in the surroundings, and the unforgettable Prague Castle.

All the candidates who successfully completed the programme received a certificate of participation. Additionally, students who did some extra work after the session acquired ECTS Credits.

At the end of the session, we also asked our students to fill out an evaluation questionnaire and comment upon our programme. Their observations, which can be found further on in this report, have been of great value for us.

We hope that this session in Prague will be a very nice memory for everyone and we warmly thank our partner, CEVRO Institute, for this friendly collaboration.

EVALUATION

The last Summer University of 2019 took place in the beautiful city of Prague. In partnership with CEVRO Institute, CIFE managed to organise a programme that was well appreciated by the students, as demonstrated by the overall satisfaction rate of 85 %. At the same time, the analysis of the evaluation forms has allowed us to identify some areas for improvement.

Except for the local students, who live in the Czech capital themselves, the group was accommodated in a hostel that had been carefully chosen by the organisers based on its good reputation and central location. In their evaluation, most participants turned out to be satisfied on this point. More negative comments were, very understandably, made by the few students who were confronted with bedbugs in their room. As soon as the organisers were informed about this situation, they did everything they could to find a solution and they soon managed to accommodate the students in question in a nearby, very comfortable hotel. Furthermore, in order to prevent any problems of this kind in the future, the organisers have already decided not to return to the hostel concerned anymore.

The academic programme took place in the very comfortable premises of CEVRO Institute. During the lunch break, the students headed to a nearby restaurant where they enjoyed a traditional meal in a warm and friendly atmosphere. A few students suggested a more diverse menu with less meat, but at the same time they recognise the organisers' choice for the traditional Czech cuisine.

Evaluation of the lecturers

Generally speaking, the participants were very positive about the lecturers who ensured the academic part of the programme. It should however be noted that some professors were unanimously appreciated, whereas others got more differentiated grades as regards either the contents of their lecture or their way of presenting it.

When it comes to the relations with the organisers, the students had nothing but good things to say about both CIFE and CEVRO and their administrative assistance before and during the programme.

Evaluation of the programme

Almost all students agreed that the academic programme was very well designed. The topics were considered both interesting and relevant and the programme lasted sufficiently long to study them properly. In order to give the Summer University a somewhat more (inter)active character, it was nevertheless suggested to include a workshop or simulation and to leave more room for discussion. Furthermore, a few students would have preferred a little more concrete link between some of the topics discussed on the one hand and the central theme of the programme on the other.

The cultural part of the programme, which included a guided walking tour in the beautiful city centre of Prague and a full day excursion to both Karlstejn Castle and Prague Castle, was highly appreciated by the foreign students. They, however, regretted the choice of most of the local students not to participate in these activities to which, of course, the entire group had been invited.

Conclusion

It can be concluded that this Summer University in Prague was an enriching experience from both an intellectual and a cultural point of view. The students got the opportunity to attend a very interesting academic programme in the unique setting that is the Czech capital. CIFE warmly thanks CEVRO for making this possible.
