About the programme

Learn to lead and represent the EU's New Diplomacy.

The success of the EU's New Diplomacy will strongly depend on the women and men who lead the strategic trade and climate policy negotiations between Europe and other geopolitical powers.

The Joint Master in EU Trade and Climate Diplomacy (EUDIPLO) offered by CIFE in Berlin and Nice and the School of Government at LUISS Guido Carli in Rome provides the necessary analytical and negotiation skills through evidence-based studies and practical project work in the three major topics of the programme: Sustainability & Climate, Trade & Investment, Digital Cooperation.

The Master is taught by renowned researchers and experienced professionals who combine second to none practical expertise and academic credentials. It combines on-site teaching, case studies, consulting missions, a research thesis and online learning tools.

- Leading by example, through the European Green Deal.
- Setting standards for Artificial Intelligence and digital cooperation across global value chains.
- Using diplomacy, trade and development cooperation to advance Sustainable Development Goals.

Overview of the academic year

TERM 1 October to January

The programme starts in Rome, on the campus of LUISS School of Government. Courses will give an introduction to EU Governance, focusing on the context and challenges of European Foreign Action and policy in the 21st century.

TERM 2 February to April

The programme continues in Berlin, in the CIFE premises. Teaching will be concentrating on EU Climate Diplomacy and its ambition to climate leadership in the context of the EU's Green Deal. A study trip to a diplomatic hub such as Brussels gives insight knowledge into EU Diplomacy and interaction with high-level lecturers, experts and diplomats.

TERM 3 April to June

Courses conclude in Nice, in CIFE's main premises. A special focus will be laid on EU Trade & Investment Diplomacy. Students will attend courses on trade diplomacy, external investment for SDGs, AI, big data and digitalised governance and innovative forms of collaborative action. Throughout the year, students will participate in policy laboratories and write their Master thesis.

Joint Master in EU Trade and Climate Diplomacy

Graduates are encouraged to apply for an internship. This facilitates their entry into the job market and allows them to benefit from a network of national and international government officials, private sector representatives and leading academics.

THE EU AS GLOBAL LEADER

About the academic institutions

CIFE, European Institute is based in Nice, with offices in Berlin, Brussels and Istanbul. It is one of the seven institutions of excellence to receive an operating grant from the European Union under the “Jean Monnet Activities” of the Erasmus+ programme. It offers currently seven Master programmes in European integration, international relations, economic governance, energy transition and climate diplomacy. All CIFE programmes are interdisciplinary with a strong job-oriented component, offering thus high-level academic education at the crossroads of theory and practice.

LUISS

School of Government

The School of Government is part of Libera Università Internazionale degli Studi Sociali (LUISS) Guido Carli, a multidisciplinary university offering degrees at all academic levels. The focus lies on business studies, economics, politics and law. The campus is located in the centre of Rome and presents a modern study environment for 7000 students. Since its founding, LUISS has played a key role in Italy’s economic and cultural development.

The EU's New Diplomacy

Trade, climate and digitalisation are the strategic fields of global policies where the European Union is displaying strong leadership. Through its Green Deal, the Paris Agreement and the adoption of the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), the EU's New Diplomacy brings together civil society, NGOs, corporates, think tanks and foundations to reinforce multilateral and rule-based agreements that set it apart from other global powers.

A new generation of policymakers is therefore needed to implement the transnational agreements for a sustainable common future.

Contributing partners

The Master programme receives support by the following contributing partners:

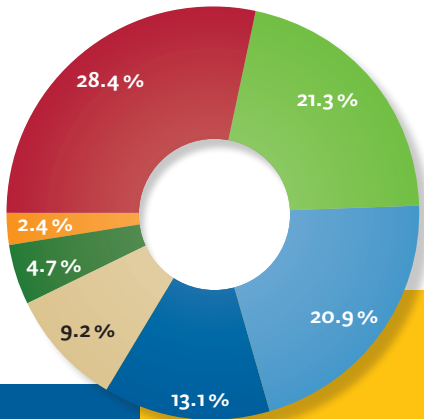

- EU External Action Service in Brussels
