

WEBINAR

9 and 10 September 2020

SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT AND ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION

This programme had to be held in North Macedonia, on the shores of Lake Ohrid, a region known as "The Pearl of the Balkans". Because of Covid-19, the programme could not be held as planned and a shorter session is proposed which covers some of the scheduled topics. This is why some of the topics are developed in relation to the Balkans region.

- Presentation of Macedonia: Historical, economic, cultural and touristic aspects
- The historical and cultural centres of UNESCO
- Tourism in the Balkans Region
- Saving our planet: environmental issues
- Witnessing a new era of technological revolution in the field of environmental protection
- Development of green energy in the Balkans Region
- Environment and Sustainable Development
- Why is addressing Climate Change so difficult?
- COVID-19 and the Global Emergency: a Biopolitical Outlook

Andrea Atanasovska
(Croatia / North Macedonia)
Energy Analyst

Arnaud Leconte
(France)
Director of the Joint Master in Global Economic Governance and Public Affairs, CIFE

Laurent Baechler
(France / Turkey),
Director of the MAEIS European Integration and Global Studies, CIFE

Andrey Makarychev
(Russia)
Johan Skytte Institute of Political Science, University of Tartu, Estonia

Cornelia Lazar
(Romania)
Graduate of the University of Bucharest and the Romanian Academy of Economic Sciences

Laura Spataru-Negura
(Romania)
Lecturer PhD Nicolae Titulescu University, Attorney-at-law, Bucharest, Romania